Negroes Plan Fight Ban at St. Augustine

By PAUL WILLS
ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — Negroes and whites clashed at a public beach again today as integrationists sought a federal court order lifting a ban on after-dark demonstrations in this uneasy city.

Nineteen integrationists waded into the surf at the beach and were immediately attacked by a gang of about 20 white men and youths. One Negro girl received a bloody nose and several other demonstrators were struck.

The whites chased the integrationists out of the surf onto the broad white beach and were themselves chased out of the water by highway patrolmen and other officers.

State police arrested about six of the white assailants.

The integrationists remained on the beach about 45 minutes, until ordered by state troopers to leave.

Attorneys for the Negroes asked the U.S. District Court in nearby Jacksonville to order Gov. Farris Bryant and Atty. Gen. James Kynes to show cause why a ban on night demonstrations should not be removed.

The request came after simultaneous demonstrations Sunday by Negroes and whites.

About 120 Negroes and more than 300 white segregationists passed each other on opposite sides of the same street Sunday in one of the more dramatic encounters of this city's recent racial unrest.

By PAUL WILLS
ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — Negro integrationists planned new daylight demonstrations today while preparing to attack a state ban keeping them from marching at night.

The new round of events was planned after simultaneous demonstrations by whites and Negroes. The bands of about 120 Negroes and more than 300 whites passed each other on opposite sides of the street Sunday in one of the more dramatic encounters of this city's recent racial unrest.

The street between the two groups was filled with state and local police who were conveying each parade.

Some of the white marchers waved Confederate flags. Others carried anti-civil rights signs. A few yelled taunts at the Negroes, some of whom stared ahead without visible emotion.

The two demonstrations wound in and out of the center section of town for about an hour. Only rarely were the two groups more than a couple of blocks apart.

Gov. Farris Bryant clapped a lid on night demonstrations Saturday after a tense Friday night situation in which a large group of Negro marchers passed within a few hundred feet of an even larger band of whites.

Violence was averted then by fast working police, sheriff's deputies, state highway patrolmen and other state officers.

Dewey Ray, 65, Dies Sunday at Texarkana

Things That a Columnist Can Learn Simply by Opening His Mail and Reading It All

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:
The two-job man may become as commonplace in America as the two-garage home. America now has four million moonlighters — people who hold more than one job. Seven out of eight of these double duty workers are men, most of them married.
Moonlighting is most common among teachers, farmers, salesmen, postal employees, firemen and policemen. One of every 10 government employees holds down a second full-time job.

Claims Approved in Bankruptcy

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Referee in Bankruptcy Arnold M. Adams has approved 75 claims totaling $305,977 against the defunct Scott Valve Manufacturing Co. of Blytheville.

The firm was declared bankrupt Oct. 11, 1963 and the plant subsequently sold at auction to Nibco, Inc. of Elkhart, Ind. for $436,700. Some secured claims were paid from that amount, leaving $665,652 that had been questioned by Leon Burrow of Blytheville, trustee of the Scott estate.

The total amount of the claims against the firm has not been revealed.

A $10,595 claim for past due rent was allowed the Blytheville Industrial Development Corporation, owner of the Scott building. Adams rejected the corporation's claim for $164,540 to cover the difference in rental payments provided under the old lease with Scott Valve and the new one with Nibco.

Final Passage of Rights Bill Up to House

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The final stage of the year-long battle to pass a civil rights bill opens in the House today with Southern foes determined to delay its final approval for another week.

The opponents are down to their last round of ammunition, however, and Speaker John W. McCormack has promised President Johnson the bill will be at the White House by July 4. With the action shifted back to the House, the Senate digs into an enormous backlog of legislation built up during the historic 83-day debate over the civil rights bill. Scheduled for action this week are bills appropriating funds to run the Interior, Treasury and Post Office departments during the coming fiscal year.

The delay in bringing the sweeping, Senate-passed civil rights bill to a final vote in the House is made possible by a requirement that the House Rules Committee approve a resolution

Nikita Told Swedes Are Neutral

By RONALD THOMSON

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev sailed into Sweden on a chilly Baltic wind today. He was told straight away that Swedes are dedicated to their neutrality. He also was met by newspaper demands for information about a Swedish diplomat captured by the Russians in 1945.

Promptly, the Soviet leader tried to warm up the atmosphere.

He came, he said at dockside, on "a mission of friendship and good neighborliness" that fully appreciated Sweden's neutral policy. He wanted "sincere talks" with government leaders, he said, to strengthen good relations.

"I do not think we will have anything to argue about."

Many Swedes are not keen about Khrushchev's coming here. The government mounted heavy security. There have been threats against his life.

About 5,000 spectators watched Khrushchev's arrival from across the harbor five miles away. At dockside were the official government reception groups, honor guards and the diplomatic corps, minus the U. S. British and French ambassadors—and, so far as newsmen could tell, the Red Chinese ambassador.

Premier Tage Erlander, a Socialist, made it plain in his welcoming address that Sweden has no intention of changing its neutral policy, which he said has the objective of peaceful co-existence. Khrushchev's present foreign policy tack.

After the ceremonies, Khrushchev drove off in a 1949 Lincoln limousine, the car which is said to have been fitted with bulletproof armor to take him around Sweden.

Blonde Is New Poultry Princess

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Little Rock girl with ash blonde hair, Barbara McGlothlin, 20, was named Arkansas Poultry Princess here Saturday night. The hazel-eyed Miss McGlothlin is a student at the University of Arkansas. She will represent the state in the Miss Universe contest next month in Florida.

Mrs. J. H. Spooner of Junction City was picked as the Arkansas Chicken Cookin' Contest Queen, succeeding Mrs. Ruby Reese of Springdale.

First runner-up in the princess contest was Linda Lou Beene, 22, of Hughes.

G. Ted Cameron of Little Rock was honored by the Arkansas Poultry Federation as "Man of the Year." He is president of Cameron Feed Mills and a past president of the state federation.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

John Yancey's suit to see if the apportionment of the Arkansas legislature obeys the U.S. Constitution may touch off a wide range of proposals for switching seats in the two chambers.

Pulaski County Rep. Glenn F. Walther has already come forward with one that would shift 58 House seats to the 17 most heavily populated counties. They now have 42.

Walther's proposal to merge 29 counties by twos and give them each one representative admittedly would not follow the "one person - one vote" dictum of the U.S. Supreme Court, but Walther maintains this is impossible.

William G. Fleming, assistant director of the Arkansas Municipal League, has advanced the idea of dividing the larger counties into districts to provide equal representation.

He says if you peg the apportionment to the smallest counties, by leaving Perry County with one representative for its 5,000 people and dividing the rest of the state accordingly, there would be about 360 representatives in the House.

His plans coincide with the ideas of Yancey, who said in filing the suit Saturday, "I am taking this action on behalf of the citizens of Pulaski County and other urban areas who have too long suffered under the domination of the bombastic rural dictator, Paul Van Dusen (Perry County) and others like him."

Yancey contends that the present Arkansas system of giving at least one representative to each of the 75 counties and dividing the remaining 25 senators among the more populous counties is unconstitutional. His suit was filed in Pulaski Circuit Court.

Walther bases his plan on the simple division of the state's 1960 population of 1,786,272 persons by the number of representatives, 100. Then he places each representative in a district where he would serve, as nearly as possible, 17,865 people.

Under his plan Pulaski County would get three more representatives, with a total of 14.

Counties to get one additional representative (with the current number in parentheses) are Jefferson (4), Mississippi (3), Sebastian (3), Washington (2), Union (2), Crittenden (2), Craighead (2), Garland (2), White (1), Miller (1), Ouachita (1), Poinsett (1) and Saline (1).

Phillips, Benton and St. Francis counties would retain two House members.

Walther would retain one representative each for Columbia, Greene, Lonoke, Faulkner, Ashley, Polk, Jackson, Hot Spring, Crawford, Clay, Hope, Lee, Clark, De Sha, Independence, Hempstead, Cross, Chicot, Monroe, Lawrence, Boone, Logan, Conway, Drew, Lincoln, Bradley, Woodruff, Randolph and Prairie counties.

Counties to be merged and given one representative each are: Madison and Carroll, Polk and Howard, Sevier and Little River, Scott, Montgomery and Pike; Dallas and Calhoun, Grant and Cleveland, Newton, Searcy and Marion; Van Buren and Cleburne, Stone, Izard and Sharp; Baxter and Fulton, Yell and Perry, Lafayette and Nevada and Johnson and Franklin. Each county now has at least one House member.

Sister of Local Man Succumbs

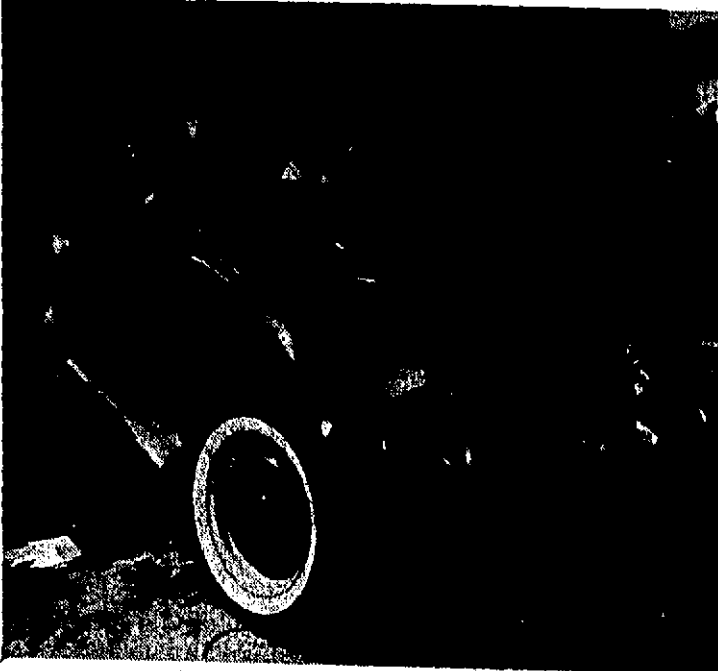

Mrs. Lizzie Glass, 76, of Prescott, Rt. 6, died Sunday in a Texarkana hospital. She was a native of Nevada County.

Survivors include a son, Lige of Prescott, three daughters, Mrs. Fannie Higginbotham, of Prescott, Mrs. Mary Cross of Rosston, Mrs. Betty Bevil of Camden, a brother, Lige Matthews of Hope, two sisters, Mrs. Liddie Martin of Stamps and Mrs. Ora Kelly of Buckner. Services were to be held today at Caney Baptist Church.

Revenue Increase

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Revenue Department says if a trend of the last five years continues, Arkansas should have a 5 per cent increase in truck and trailer license sales next month. Last year the state sold 232,369 truck and 57,907 trailer licenses, compared to 219,348 and 57,907 in 1962.

Applicants for YOP Jobs Are Sought

Teddy Jones of the Hope, Arkansas Employment Security Division, today announced that application forms are available at his office for those interested in applying for jobs with the Youth Opportunity Program, as announced Thursday by J.L. Bland, administrator of the Arkansas Employment Security Division, and U.S. Secretary of Labor, W. Willard Wirtz.

Secretary Wirtz announced plans for the establishment of a nation-wide Youth Opportunity Program on June 17 and outlined the urgent need to recruit some 2,000 qualified counselor aids and other advisors. Those selected will be given special instruction in counseling, advising and working with disadvantaged youth.

To qualify, Mr. Jones said an applicant must be a college graduate, preferably in counseling, psychology, social work, education, sociology, or related fields. Those applicants who are chosen will be given eight to ten weeks of concentrated university instruction between June 15 and September 15. Mr. Jones says application forms and other informational material are available at the Employment Security Division located at 700 South Elm Street in Hope, Ark.

Those who are interested in these positions should apply immediately, as the first qualifying examinations will be given June 27, with subsequent examinations to follow.

Negroes Warned to Go Slow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Negro leader Roy Wilkins warns that Negro advances under the new civil rights bill will be diminished if unwise tactics are used in testing its enforcement.

Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told a news conference Sunday that rights backers should be "smart rather than loud" in seeking implementation of the bill when it becomes law.

"If you have to change the sparkplugs in your car, you don't use a sledgehammer," he said. "You use a wrench."

"DEAR ABBY"

THE GAME'S THE SAME!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: I am an American Airlines stewardess and I love my work, but my problem is the same as every other airline stewardess I know. When a male passenger wants to make conversation with us, he asks two questions:

(1) How do you like flying?
(2) Aren't you afraid to fly so much?

Abby, if we didn't like flying, we wouldn't fly. And if we were "afraid," we wouldn't be flying for a living. I'll bet I answer those two questions fifty times a day! You would do thousands of airline stewardesses a big favor if you would suggest a few more original questions. Please?

MISS A. A.

Dear Miss A.A.: I was about to suggest: (1) Are you going with anybody? (2) What are you doing tonight? But they are probably more common than the two questions you mentioned. You can't blame a man for wanting to strike up a conversation with an attractive girl. Yours is a great job! Where else can you find men who are already strapped in?

Dear Abby: How do you tell your doctor that you would like another medical opinion without implying that you do not trust his judgment? Is it all right to ask him to recommend another doctor or are you expected to find your own? If you should decide to change doctors, is it nerve to ask your old doctor to give your new doctor your records and X-rays? I would like to know how all this is handled as I am very stupid about such matters.

NO NAME, PLEASE

Dear No Name: Any patient who would like another medical opinion has the right to tell her doctor so. If he has a doctor in mind, she may request that he be called in. Otherwise her doctor will recommend one. If she should decide to change doctors, the physician in service will (or should) graciously send her records and X-rays to her new doctor on the latter's request.

Dear Abby: What in the world is the matter with a certain big store here in town? This is the second run-in I've had with them over their fouled-up bookkeeping. I went on my lunch hour and stood in line to pay ten dollars on my bill, which paid me up in full. Then I got a bill from them showing that I still owed them $9.90, but a credit was put through for TEN CENTS! Now, Abby, you know perfectly well that no store will accept a TEN-CENT payment on a bill! Well, I took my receipt AND my lawyer with me and went down there and told them off but good. Believe it or not, they are still looking for their mistake. Tell your readers to hold on to their receipts. Mine saved me.

Turk Leader Coming to U.S. to Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prime Minister Ismet Inonu of Turkey arrived today for crucial talks with President Johnson who wants to head off a Turkish invasion of Cyprus that could wreck the Atlantic alliance.

The 80-year-old Turkish leader flew from Williamsburg to Washington in a helicopter. Johnson, in welcoming remarks, said the talks will aid "solution of problems which trouble us all." Inonu said Turkey "believes in peace, but this peace cannot be lasting if based on injustice."

The meetings between Johnson and Inonu today and Tuesday are to be followed by similar conferences Wednesday and Thursday between the President and Greek Premier George Papandreu. No direct talks between the Greek and Turkish leaders are planned.

Talks with Johnson, a White House luncheon and a reception at the Turkish Embassy are on Inonu's schedule today.

Johnson invited Inonu and 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Papandreu in the wake of reports that Turkey planned to put troops ashore on Cyprus. The President then ordered Undersecretary of State George W. Ball to Athens and Ankara to express this government's concern over the situation.

However, the State Department has made clear the United States has no preference for any of the solutions proposed to take the steam out of the Cyprus situation. The United Nations is trying to mediate the crisis.

The United States has tried to convince Greece and Turkey, both members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, that only the Communists can benefit from the present situation. "The hope in Washington is that improved relations between Greece and Turkey will bring an improvement in relations between the majority Greeks and the minority Turks on Cyprus, a former British territory which became independent in 1960."

On Cyprus, it was reported that Gen. George Grivas, who led Greek Cypriot underground fighters during the fight to win independence from Britain, had returned to the island. This was expected to harden the Greek Cypriot wing which demands union with Greece.

Perfect Game Hurlled by Jim Bunning

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The bright-eyed little girl with the blonde curls and the big smile sat behind home plate on a Father's Day doubleheader at Shea Stadium and listened to the fans talk about Jim Bunning and his quest for a perfect game.

"That's my daddy," 12-year-old Barbara Bunning told any who cared to listen while her 32-year-old father toiled against the New York Mets.

Then, after slim Jim fired a third strike past Met pinch hitter John Stephenson for the 27th consecutive out and the first National League perfect game in 84 years, Barbara and her mother made their way through the crowd to the playing field. To the delight of photographers Barbara gave her beaming father a big kiss. Bunning beamed even more.

"It's a wonderful feeling," the Philadelphia right-hander said after the 6-0 victory. "I still can't believe it. I feel wonderful, just wonderful."

"He had everything," catcher Gus Triandos said. "Good fast ball, good slider, good curve. His curve was his best pitch. Most of his strikeouts, maybe all of them, came on the curve."

Bunning, who also pitched a no-hitter in the American League as a member of the Detroit Tigers, struck out 10 Mets in his Sunday masterpiece. He went to a 3-2 count on only two batters but had his pitching gem preserved by a great play by second baseman Tony Taylor in the fifth.

The play came on a wicked grounder smashed in the hole between first and second by Jesse Gonder. Taylor made a diving stop of it and threw out the runner from his knees.

"What a play," Bunning shouted. "What a play that Taylor made."

Bunning said that was when he sensed that the masterpiece was within reach. "I told 'em to dive for everything," he said. But there wasn't the need for another. He continued to methodically send the Mets down in order while the tension mounted.

Then came the ninth and the 32,904 rapt Met fans suddenly became Bunning boosters. He got Charlie Smith to foul out. Pinch hitter George Altman struck out. Then came two quick strikes on Stephenson.

The next two pitches missed before Bunning bent a curve past the batter to create a flock of firsts, including:

The first National League perfect game since 1880.

The first regular season major league perfect game in 42 years.

The first pitcher of the modern era to pitch a perfect game in both major leagues.

Harvey Haddix of Pittsburgh pitched 12 innings of perfect ball against Milwaukee in 1959, but lost in the 13th inning. Don Larsen of the New York Yankees pitched a perfect game in the 1956 World Series against Brooklyn.

"I was aware I was pitching a perfect game from the fifth inning on," the 6-foot-3, 190-pounder said. "I added about it on the bench and the boys kidded right back. Jinx? I don't believe in jinxes."

The jinx reference was to an old baseball superstition that a pitcher does not mention a no-hitter while he is working on one.

Bunning came to the major leagues in 1955 with the Detroit Tigers and, in nine seasons, compiled a record of 118-87, including a 20-game victory season in 1957. He was traded to the Phils. along with Triandos last winter. The victory was his seventh against two losses this season.

The victory gave Denver a clean sweep of the four-game series. They defeated the Texas Rangers 3-1 and 7-6 in a doubleheader Saturday.

The two runs in the second inning scored when Pitcher Cecil Butler singled with the bases loaded.

They added an unearned run in the fifth when Jim Coker drove home with a single.

In the sixth Robby Morton doubled and scored when Lou and

McKinley Coasts to Easy Victory

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — American Davis Cup star Chuck McKinley easily won his opening round match in the Wimbledon Tennis Tournament today, but his Cup teammate, Dennis Ralston, went down to defeat.

McKinley, the defending champion from San Antonio, Tex., coasted to a 6-2, 6-1, 6-2 victory over Terry Ryan of South Africa, on the center court.

Ralston, seeded 110, dropped a long match to Tony Pickard of Britain, 7-6, 3-6, 6-4, 7-5, 6-7, and became the first seeded player to lose.

Before McKinley took the court there was a mild disturbance over a newspaper article written by the 23-year-old American.

Davis Cup ace. There was talk McKinley might be barred because of rules against writing by players during the tournament.

Giants Trim Cardinals in Single Game

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
New York Met fans thought they'd seen it all — Marveous Marv Throneberry, a 32-inning doubleheader, you name it — until a slim sidewinder from Southgate, Ky., came along and treated the New Breed to the sweetest sight of all — perfection.

And, as Philadelphia's Jim Bunning set down Met after Met in the first flawless pitching performance in modern National League history — a 6-0, no-hit, no-base runner masterpiece in the first game of a Sunday doubleheader — the Shea Stadium faithful were caught up in the wonder of it all.

They forgot to root for the home team.

The fans were with Bunning all the way and the 32-year-old right-hander, an NL newcomer after nine years with Detroit, didn't let them down. Pinpointing an assortment of curve balls and sliders, he retired each of the 27 batters he faced, a feat last accomplished by Don Larsen of the New York Yankees in a 1956 World Series game.

Charlie Robertson pitched a regular season perfect game for the Chicago White Sox in 1922. Pittsburgh's Harvey Haddix hurled 12 perfect innings against Milwaukee in 1959 but lost the game 1-0 on a 13th inning hit. A National League pitcher hadn't won a perfect game since 1880.

Bunning also became the first to win no-hitters in each league, having blanked Boston in 1958 for the Tigers.

The Mets, not to be denied entirely, found a place in the record book, too. Their three hits in the nightcap, won by the Phils 8-2, tied the low hit total for a doubleheader.

While Bunning was spinning gem for the league-leading Phils, the rest of the league went about its business with surprising, though less spectacular results.

No Starter of 1963 in the Lineup

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Not a single 1963 starter returned to the American League All-Star opening line-up which will face the National League's best on July

Houston climbed into seventh place and sent Milwaukee reeling to ninth with 5-2 and 5-4 victories over the Braves. Chicago swept a twin bill from Pittsburgh 2-1 and 7-2. Los Angeles split with Cincinnati, winning 4-2 and losing 2-1. San Francisco trimmed St. Louis 7-3 in a single game.

The New York Yankees beat the White Sox 2-0 and 2-1 in 17 innings, taking the American League lead from Baltimore, 9-6 victim of Boston. Washington won a pair from Kansas City 13-2 and 5-2. Detroit beat Minnesota 4-2 and Los Angeles down Cleveland 4-1.

Bunning — and everyone else — credited Phil's second baseman Tony Taylor with the game's fielding gem. Taylor dove to stop Jesse Gonder's fifth inning bid in the hole and threw Gonder out from a kneeling position.

Elsewhere, Houston's Rusty Staub went on a four-hit, two-homer spree against Warren Spahn and two successors in the opener with Milwaukee. Second game homers by winning pitcher Ken Johnson and Joe Gimes helped the Colts sweep the four-game set and hand the Braves their sixth straight setback.

Larry Jackson pitched a three-hitter, retiring the last 22 Pirates in order, and dove in both Chicago runs in the opener. Lew Burdette allowed five hits through seven innings in the second game before yielding to Lindy McDaniel.

Sandy Koufax became the second NL pitcher to win 10 games, checking Cincinnati in the first game with the help of Frank Howard, who drove in two runs with a single and his 15th homer. Vada Pinson doubled and Deron Johnson homered in the first inning of the nightcap for the Reds' margin.

Three New York Yankees, three Minnesota Twins and one each from the Los Angeles Angels and Baltimore Orioles made up the starting team, exclusive of the pitcher, chosen by a vote of 281 league players, coaches and managers.

Second baseman Bobby Richardson, who drew 233 votes, the most of any player, headed the Yankee contingent, which included catcher Elston Howard, 217 votes, and center fielder Mickey Mantle, 205 votes.

Mantle was named to the 1963 starting team but a broken leg kept him from playing. His place was taken by runner-up Albie Pearson of the Angels.

Jim Fregosi, who beat out Baltimore's Luis Aparicio for the shortstop berth, 161 votes in '72, was the Angels' representative. Brooks Robinson of Baltimore won the third base nomination hands down, beating Frank Melzone of Boston, 220 to 21.

Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox, is the manager. The White Sox did not even place a runner-up in any position.

Commissioner Ford Frick, whose office conducted the balloting, said the National League starting line-up will be announced Tuesday. The remainder of the squads, including the pitchers, will be announced later.

The American League holds a slim edge, 17 victories to 16 with one game ending in a tie. The National League won last year's game at Cleveland, 5-3.

English Is Required in Cuba Schools

By RICHARD DAW

HAVANA (AP)—The teacher's questions boomed out in clear, crisp English:

"Whose classroom is this?"

The answer from the 15 students came back in unison, in English equally clear and crisp:

"It is ours."

English is the only required foreign language in Cuba's school system.

"You shouldn't be surprised that we require the study of your language," the teacher told a U.S. visitor. "It's only logical."

"Why should we allow ideological differences between our government and yours to affect our teaching of a language that is so necessary these days in international dealings and advanced technological study?"

All Cuban students must begin studying English in the seventh grade and continue through the ninth. From the 10th through the 12th grades those who have demonstrated an adequate knowledge of English may switch to French.

Experimentation is being carried out with classes in Russian for the same grades. Students who want to learn Russian also may do so in special language schools where many other languages also are taught.

The experimental classes in Russian are being held at the Education Ministry's sprawling complex of headquarters and school centers called Liberty City.

Situated on the edge of Havana, Liberty City used to be Camp Columbia, the main base of dictator Fulgencio Batista's army garrison.

About 7,000 students attend school there now.

The education they get is, like that throughout Cuba, Socialist-oriented. They are taught that the Soviet Union is the leader of the free, peace-loving world.

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP)—Any program titled "The Missing Bank of Rupert X. Humperdink" has to be broad comedy, or an attempt at it. Using the same process of deduction, any comedy with John McGiver in the east is likely to be funny.

Sunday night, unhappily, McGiver's considerable skills were no match for the impossible script that carried the ridiculous title on NBC's "Show of the Week."

McGiver was cast as an irascible, high-living bankrupt with a taste for blondes, quadruple martinis and shady deals.

As the show opened he was being dunned by his most recent ex-wife and trying to remember the name and location of a country bank where, 25 years before on a drunken spree he had opened a $50,000 rainy day account under a name also forgotten.

Somewhat he remembered the name of the town and the action then moved to the bank and that well-worn classic character—the shy, quietbank teller who is quietly dipping into the accounts. The $50,000 account of Rupert X. Humperdink was one of his best sources.

The two collide, with the country bank teller ultimately outwitting the city slicker. A good dependable comedy theme. Unfortunately it was played at a pitch of hysteria and confusion as if sheer noise would make up for the total lack of really good lines.

Ah, well, it has been a very bad year for hour-long comedies in television.

"That Was the Week That Was" on Friday night looked and satirized would have been way it has on other Fridays.

Marshall Jamison, resigned in a "policy disagreement" with producer Leland Hayward.

Although Hayward would not be specific about his areas of discontent with the show, he repeated that he "prefers the use of the rapier to the bludgeon"—and it is hard to deny that "TW3" often has been brutally blunt and sarcastic where wit and sounded pretty much the more appropriate.

NBC's "Sunday" recalled, on its 10th anniversary, the Army-McCarthy hearings, with a few well-remembered highlights of the Senate hearings, coupled with short interviews with some of the participants looking back a decade. The program is uniformly an intelligent and interesting feature treatment of the news.

How They Voted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sens. J. William Fulbright and John McClellan of Arkansas voted Wednesday against substituting a version of the civil rights bill prepared by leaders of both parties for the House-passed version. The substitution was approved 76-18.

Win to Pay a Visit to El Dorado

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Winthrop Rockefeller goes politics today in the home county of his newly-named finance chairman, Louis Hurley of El Dorado.

On the agenda are talks at a civic club luncheon and a get-acquainted dinner and visits to Smackover, Norpilot, Calion, Strong and Junction City.

The Republican candidate for governor named his campaign headquarters Saturday as he opened his state headquarters here. They are campaign manager G. Thomas Eselle of Little Rock, office manager Robert W. Faulkner of Malvern and Hurley.

In a news conference following the announcement of his leaders, Rockefeller said he is against organized gambling, but thinks the people should have the right to decide if they want gambling.

He said he could not have voted for the civil rights bill passed by the Senate Friday and that he remains uncommitted as a delegate to the Republican National Convention.

He also issued an 18-point "Statement of Beliefs" which he said could not be considered his platform.

The statement included opposition to more than two consecutive terms for a governor.

If Gov. Orval E. Faubus survives the Democratic primary, he will face Rockefeller in November, seeking a sixth consecutive term.

Yankees Take Twin Bill and Go Into First

Bo Belinsky's mouth says he wants to go to Hawaii, but his left arm isn't helping buy the ticket.

Belinsky, Los Angeles Angels' southpaw, came within one out of hurling his first shutout in nearly two years Sunday but had to settle for relief help and a 4-1 triumph over Cleveland.

The victory was Belinsky's third straight, giving him a 5-3 record. He reduced his earned run average to 3.12 while scattering six hits and striking out nine.

The appearance was the first for the 27-year-old lefty since he revealed last week that he had asked the Angels' management to return him to Hawaii, where he pitched in the minor leagues for a while last season.

The pressure of being a star in the big leagues was too much, Belinsky contended.

So, he decided, he better change his ways before ulcers did more damage than American League batters. Hawaii, he was convinced, was the proper prescription for recovery.

His request, however, was rejected, and Belinsky must content himself with pitching for the Angels until he earns the return trip.

The way he's going now, he may have to wait until the winter.

In other AL action, New York moved into first place by sweeping Chicago 2-0 and 2-1 in 17 innings, Boston downed Baltimore 9-6, Detroit defeated Minnesota 4-2 and Washington took Kansas City 13-2 and 5-2.

In the National League, Philadelphia rolled over New York 6-0 and 8-2, Chicago dumped Pittsburgh 2-1 and 7-2, Houston knocked off Milwaukee 5-2 and 5-4, San Francisco whipped St. Louis 7-3 and Cincinnati nipped Los Angeles 2-1 after losing 4-2.

Blinsky had a four-hit shut out until the Indians got to him for a walk and two hits with only one out remaining in the game. Bob Dilliba came on and retired the last batter, preserving the Angels' five-game winning streak.

The Yankees continued their amazing mastery over Chicago, extending their record this season to 9-0 with the White Sox. The double victory moved the Yankees eight percentage points ahead of the Orioles.

Home runs by Elston Howard and Mickey Mantle took care of the opener. New York, however, needed an error by shortstop Al Weis with the bases loaded in the 17th to win the nightcap. Weis fumbled Bill Stafford's grounder, allowing Hector Lopez to score. Lopez had doubled with one out and reached third in walks to Howard and Phil Rizzuto.

Dick Stuart belted four hits and drove in four runs, three on a homer, as the Red Sox helped lump the Orioles from the top. Carl Yastrzemski had three singles and drove in two runs for Boston. John Orsino and Willie Kirkland homered for Baltimore.

Dave Wickersham bent, Minnesota for the fourth time without a defeat this season. The Tiger hurler needed help from Ed Rakow in the ninth after Tony Oliva homered and a walk and singles by Bob Allison and Jerry Kindall brought in another run.

George Thomas singled across two runs for the Tigers in the first while Bubba Phillips homered in the seventh.

The Senators cooled off the Athletics, winners of eight of their previous nine games. Don Lock drove in nine runs with

Circle "C" Rodeo At Camden June 24 - 27

Horns like a battering ram, cloven hooves carrying three-quarter ton of cat-quick muscle and bone—plus the unstable disposition of a cornered bear—the cross-bred Brahma bull is the most formidable foe in the rodeo arena. To help the cowboy escape unscathed the baggy-clothed clown darts in to divert the bull when the 8-second, qualifying ride is over.

The 3rd annual Circle "C" Riding Club World Championship Rodeo will be held in Camden June 24 through 27th with performances at 8 p.m. Star attraction of the rodeo will be Miss Molly Bee and featured attraction is Nat Stuckey of the Louisiana Hayriders. Kinney Brothers-Todd Rodeo Company produce this annual rodeo for the Circle C Riding Club, a nonprofit organization.

Will they follow him to Scotland?

Ken Venturi, who won the U.S. Open Golf Championship in suffocating heat and pressure, is the fellow who got rid of his companions.

"I didn't have anything like Arnie's Army following me around the last few years," Venturi said, "but I had a gang that was just as persistent. I called them 'Venturi's vultures.'"

Then, after he had convinced himself and everyone else that he would never pay off on his early promise, Venturi plodded to the Open title the hard way—in the lead for the final nine holes, and playing in front of his pursuers.

He finished with 66 and 70 for 276, the second best score ever shot in the Open.

And now, the golf question is: Can Jack Nicklaus, the Ohio Golden Bear, snap out of the slump that has dogged him of late?

Of course, there are many golfers who would love to have Nicklaus' troubles. Big Jack is No. 1 on the money list, has won two tournaments this year, and is an automatic favorite with Arnold Palmer in any tournament he enters.

"He ought to give us strokes," the pros say.

But Jack is such a super player that he is expected to be a factor in every major championship. He wasn't a factor at the Open, after he bogeyed the last three holes of the first round.

Nicklaus finished way back at 295. The next stop is the British Open at St. Andrews, July 3-12.

It is the only major title Nicklaus has never won. He had it in the bag last year, but he finished bogey-bogey and lost by a stroke.

Planes Grounded for Safety Check

TAIPEI, Formosa. (AP)—All Civil Air Transport planes were grounded in Formosa today for a three-day safety check.

The Ministry of Communications issued the order after the crash of a CAT twin-engine in central Formosa Saturday, killing all 57 persons on board, including 20 Americans.

It was the first loss of any passengers by CAT, the Nationalist Chinese airline founded in 1946 by the late Lt. Gen. Claire Chennault of the wartime Flying Tigers.

Most of the Americans were on a sightseeing trip. They included the Rev. Bertis E. Downs III, 32, of Clifton Forge, Va.

Kennedy Is Improving, Report Says

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP) - Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's condition was described today as "extremely satisfactory" by his attending physician.

Dr. Thomas F. Corriden, who has been caring for the senator since he suffered a broken back in an airplane crash Friday night, said in a morning bulletin that Kennedy is "bright and alert and asked to see the morning newspapers."

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and his wife, who suffered less serious injuries in the accident, are also hospital patients. They were expected to remain at the Coolidge Dickinson Hospital the rest of the week.

Bayh said Sunday that Kennedy did not have a seat belt at the time of impact and was half standing talking to his aide, Edward Moss, 41, one of the two men killed in the crash.

The senator is resting on a special canvas rigging instead of a regular hospital bed.

Known as a "Foster frame," it takes the place of a more uncomfortable, unwieldy plaster cast which for years was a must for persons with fractured vertebrae.

The frame will keep Kennedy, 32, as comfortable as possible while surgeons determine whether surgery will be needed for the three broken vertebrae he suffered in a plane crash Friday night in which two persons died.

Though the freshman Democratic senator, elected 19 months ago to fill his brother's unexpired term in the U.S. Senate, faces six to eight months of recuperation, doctors stress he will recover completely, barring unforeseen complications.

Also at Coolidge Dickinson Hospital were Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and his wife. They were in good condition from less serious

Scranton Delegates Lining Up

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) - Gov. William W. Scranton says Republican convention delegates "in greater numbers than I expected" are lining up behind his presidential candidacy.

The Pennsylvania governor, who plans to confer starting Tuesday with key uncommitted delegations in the East, Midwest and South, says he thinks the major swing to him by delegates now favoring front-running Sen. Barry Goldwater will start in about a week and a half.

Scranton gave no figures on shifts so far in his appearance Sunday on the CBS radio-television program "Face the Nation."

He planned to stay in Harrisburg, Pa., today, but had an eye on Columbus, Ohio, where the 58-vote Ohio delegation is scheduled to meet.

The delegation includes at least 15 Goldwater supporters but is nominally pledged to Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes on the first ballot. A key to Scranton's success is to assure that such delegations stay uncommitted so that Goldwater doesn't go over the top on the first rollcall at the GOP convention at San Francisco.

"If he doesn't win on the first ballot, it would be very difficult for him to win at all," Scranton told newsmen Sunday before he returned to Harrisburg from ious injuries suffered in the crash but were expected to be held at the hospital the rest of the week.

Kennedy cannot be moved for another 10 to 12 days, Brig. Gen. Henry Murphey, head of the Army's Walter Reed General Hospital in Washington, said Sunday night.

He and Dr. Thomas F. Corriden, who has been attending the senator since he was brought into the hospital early Saturday, said Kennedy continues to show "definite improvement."

Doctors had said previously that there was no neurological damage and that Kennedy escaped any paralysis from the broken back.

Kennedy also suffered two broken ribs and fractures of three transverse processes, which extend from the vertebrae and give the spine support.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy visited her brother-in-law Sunday, as did other members of the Kennedy family.

Kennedy and Bayh, 36 - the two youngest members in the U.S. Senate - had their first meeting Sunday since the crash.

Kennedy was taken out of oxygen as doctors reported his blood pressure and breathing considerably improved.

Kennedy was en route from Washington to the Massachusetts Democratic convention in Springfield when the plane crashed in an apple orchard in Northampton.

Killed instantly was the pilot, Edwin T. Zimny, 48, of Andover, Mass. Kennedy's aide, Edward Moss, 41, also of Andover, died about seven hours after the crash.

I found a cab and went to the airport.

A half-hour later I had covered all of the airlines. There were only two that had flights scheduled during the time period I was interested in. One was Northwest and the other was Washington.

While in the capital he conferred with the nine-delegate District of Columbia delegation. He called it "a very successful meeting" but declined to elaborate.

The latest Associated Press survey of GOP convention delegates gives Goldwater 694 first-ballot votes—39 more than the number needed for nomination. Scranton is credited with 138 votes.

A spot check of GOP delegates from Missouri, Nevada, Utah, Kansas, Nebraska, Tennessee and Georgia showed Goldwater's strength remained what it was before he voted against the civil rights bill.

Scranton's schedule this week includes trips to New Jersey, Delaware, West Virginia, Ohio and Michigan, which together have 103 delegates uncommitted or behind favorite sons.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., who will be permanent chairman of the San Francisco convention, said today Illinois might indicate whether Scranton can take delegates away from Goldwater.

The 58-delegate group, headed by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, meets next Tuesday to hear Goldwater and Scranton state their cases. At present, Goldwater is credited with 37 Illinois votes, while 19 including Dirksen and GOP gubernatorial candidate Charles H. Percy are uncommitted.

"Well, all we'd have would be the passenger list. Do you think you can tell anything from that?"

"I think I might."

"Our policy is that we only give out such information to the police," he said. "I can, however see your point, but I'll have to get in touch with the home office in New York. They may or may not see it your way."

"How long will that take?"

Thinks Rights Bill Due 100 Years Ago

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—It was supposed to have been done almost 100 years ago. But the Supreme Court was different then. The mood of the nation and the times were different. And Negroes? They had no power, hardly a voice.

The civil rights bill which Congress is going to pass now is in essence a repetition of what was tried after the Civil War. If it had worked then, the history of America would have been different.

Before the war Southern "black codes" imposed penalties on Negro slaves not only for crimes but as human beings. They couldn't testify against a white man; it was a crime to teach them to read.

The Civil War, and the 13th Amendment of 1865, abolished slavery but new "black codes" began to appear. The freedmen weren't freedmen. The codes put restrictions on them that did not apply to white men.

Strong-willed men in the Republican-run Congress, overshadowing both the president and the Supreme Court, rushed through two additional amendments, the 14th and 15th.

The 14th, making Negroes citizens, said no state could deprive them of the privileges and immunities of citizens; and the 15th said no state could deny citizens the right to vote.

Thus Congress sought to free Negroes—there were 4 million slaves at the time of the war, 27 million whites—in their social and political life. Negroes now number about 20 million in a population of 192 million.

To make Negroes' citizenship real Congress backed up the amendments with a series of civil rights acts: the protection of all laws in all states, assurance of voting rights, protection against the Ku Klux Klan, and so on.

One in particular, passed in 1875, said Negroes must have equal treatment in public conveyances on land or water, theaters, and amusement places.

But, despite all this effort by Congress, by then Southern states had begun passing segregation laws. And in the North, Negroes didn't get equal treatment. They were discriminated against everywhere.

It took eight years after that 1875 act for Negroes to take to the Supreme Court five cases of discrimination which, they felt, violated the law. For example, the case of a Northern theater which refused to admit Negroes. By then the Northern politicians were getting tired of the struggle to get Negroes equal treatment. The Supreme Court reflected this mood.

This was how it interpreted that 1875 act: It was only intended, the court said, to forbid states to pass laws denying Negroes equal treatment; the law didn't apply to discrimination by individual white people.

No Topless Suits, Says Covington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern states piled up segregation laws and in 1896, the Supreme Court blessed such laws by reasoning that was fallacious on the face of it: the court said Negroes could be segregated so long as they got equal treatment with white men.

The treatment was, and became, very unequal. Between 1875 and 1957 Congress passed no more civil rights acts. From 1896 until 1954 that separate-but-equal doctrine of the court remained the law of the land.

In time, a long time, Negroes once again began to seek action by the government to get treatment truly equal. Any appeal for the first half of this century was hopeless. Negroes hoped the court would undo the 1896 ruling.

But it never did until 1954. It knocked out, beginning in the 1930s, various forms of unequal treatment, like back seats on a bus. But until 1954, it never declared the 1896 court wrong by saying the principle of segregation was wrong.

Then it did so in its ruling banning public school segregation. Stimulated by that, Congress passed a civil rights act in 1957, and another in 1960. These were mainly aimed at protecting Negroes' right to vote. Contrary to the 15th Amendment of 1870, Negroes were kept from voting in many areas.

Now Congress is about to pass

Covington, Ky., is not going to have anything to do with those topless swimsuits for women, but Vancouver, Wash., may find itself in the mainstream of modern fashion because of its past. Covington's City Commission Thursday night adopted an ordinance prohibiting the "sale and wearing of a one-piece women's bathing suit or apparel which allows the breast of the woman to be exposed."

The vote: 4 for, 0 against. The penalty: Up to three days in jail and a $500 fine.

"It never ceases to amaze me what some industry will do to make a dollar," said Commissioner Don Riesenberger, sponsor of the ordinance.

In Vancouver, however, a reporter dug up an 1880 ordinance which says: "No person shall bathe in the water of the Columbia River or any lake within the corporate limits of the said city or in any creek or slough within the city limits between the hours of 6 a.m. and 8 p.m. without having a suitable bathing suit, which shall cover the body from the waist to the knee." Note that "waist to the knee." And, what about 8 p.m. to 6 a.m.?

The bare bosom bathing suit, as designed by Rudi Gernreich, comes somewhat above the waist, but from there to the shoulders there are only two strings—thin strings.

Buyers from clothing stores across the nation viewed the topless wonder this week in New York. Some buyers stocked but some of them said they'd show and sell the suits only when asked.

Others snubbed it as not in keeping with the moral tone of their town or the image of their store.

One more civil rights act, once more to strengthen Negroes' voting protections and, among other things, prohibit discrimination against Negroes in motels, hotels, restaurants and places of amusement if those places affect interstate commerce.

It's a little iffy and fulfillment will take time. But Congress and the court now are trying to do what neither did well in those turbulent years almost a century ago.

Deeds, Views Laid Down by Goldwater

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, seeking the Republican presidential nomination, has laid down in words and deeds his views on domestic issues and problems.

What follows is put together from his statements, his books, his positions in the Senate.

Civil Rights—He considered unconstitutional both the Supreme Court's ban on public school segregation — while agreeing with its objectives — and any government interference in education.

But he later switched and said it's the government's job to enforce a federal court's edict on desegregation. Thursday night he announced he will vote against the civil rights bill, but said again he opposes segregation.

Government Spending — He wants it cut, contends free enterprise would provide all the jobs needed if allowed to work without government interference.

At the same time he is against monopolies by big unions or big business. But to prevent monopolies requires strong federal interference. And there is no truly free enterprise system.

There can't be so long as American business wants tariffs to protect it from foreign competition and government subsidies to help it survive. Goldwater is vague on ending such subsidies.

Federal Aid to Schools—He is particularly against it for elementary and secondary schools, has said: The government has "no right to educate children," the "child has no right to an education."

But the government has been aiding education in one form or another for more than 100 years. Here Goldwater pre-dates Adam Smith, patron economic saint of American conservatives. Smith said in 1776 in his book, "The Wealth of Nations," a government should help education.

Medical Care for the Aged—He's against the Kennedy-Johnson program to tie such aid to Social Security, saying it "detracts from the responsibility of the family."

Farmers—He said "we should get the farmers back on the law of supply and demand" and suggested phasing out the government's farm program over four years.

Government's Role in American Life—He would narrow it sharply, saying "The legitimate functions of government are actually conducive to freedom, maintaining internal order, keeping foreign foes at bay, administering justice, removing obstacles to the free interchange of goods." There he sounds exactly like Adam Smith.

Housing, Public Power and Urban Renewal Programs—He has said the government should withdraw from all of them.

Labor—He is for right-to-work laws, which unions oppose, but has been against the union shop, compulsory arbitration, industry-wide bargaining, political activities by unions, broadening the minimum wage.

Tennessee Valley Authority—He proposed selling TVA to private industry, later seemed to be saying only part of it should be sold.

Social Security—He suggested putting it on a voluntary basis but didn't explain how it could survive that way. Later he said he wants to keep it and strengthen it by making the pension-dollar sound.

Welfare Programs—He is particularly antagonistic to these, has said the government should withdraw from them, suggested private charity as a solution, but has been unspecific on precisely what programs should be dropped.

They include aid to needy old permanently disabled, crippled children, child welfare, and programs to curb juvenile delinquency.

Taxes—He was all for eliminating the graduated income tax. Later he seemed to modify this by saying there should be an overhaul.

Just Like Chase Scenes in Movies

MILFORD, Conn. (AP)—Just like those chase scenes in the movies, a car sailed from one side of an opening drawbridge to the other last night, police reported.

Rymond Spinosi, 28, of Scranton, Pa. was approaching the U.S. 1 bridge over the Housatonic River when the bridge began to open.

Unable to stop, Spinosi's car went over the top and landed upright six feet away on the other section of the bridge. He was uninjured but his car was damaged.

Police said a lever which unlocks the bridge mechanism apparently tripped accidentally.

No Favors, Please

Springfield, Mo. (AP)—After paying the parking lot for a new apartment building, owner Bob Withers decided he would be doing everyone a favor if he used the excess asphalt to pave an access alley owned by the city. The volunteer project cost him $500.

City officials were unimpressed. Because Withers' paving didn't meet all specifications for city streets, the apartment owner was ordered to ear up is asphalt and restore the alley to dirt and gravel.
